STAT

The White House has referred to us a copy of a letter which [redacted] wrote to the President about you and your possible interest in Government service.

STAT

We understand that you might be willing to take part in some phase of work connected with international affairs while on a leave of absence from your present position but that you are not considering Government service on a career basis. [redacted] letter and a biographic resume which he enclosed have been reviewed by appropriate officials of our organization with this in mind. We have not located any immediate requirement which would take advantage of your background and experience but shall keep you in mind for needs which might develop in the future. If a suitable opportunity should develop, we shall get in touch with you to inquire about your interest in it.

STAT

Sincerely,

for E. D. Echols
Director of Personnel
